From the Conference Desk

Indian Society is mainly divided into three Sections i.e. Urban, Rural & Tribal. Particularly the place of Rural Society is important because 65% population situated in rural area. Rural economy is the fountainhead of Indian economy. The conference aims to find out the existing situation of the Rural Development and to suggest the ways & remedies to sustainable Rural Development for the making of super power India. Rural India is facing problem of their survival. Agriculture workers are in crisis. The reporting cases of farmer's suicide are increasing. Poverty, inequality and environmental destructions are the major causes. The small land holding farmers are more in the trouble than the workers.

The Government Schemes are more often beneficial for workers whereas small landholders are getting frustrated. The trends of migration from rural to urban with professional shift of skilled agriculture workers to unskilled labor are observed. On this premise it is essential to understand the contemporary social reality of villages. The retrospective study of Sustainable rural development is needed to rethink. The national conference is an effort to create knowledge base on various issues like rural society, sustainable development and rural development. The role of Government Organization, Non government organization and Industries in rural development is needed to rethink. The intellectual expected outcome of this conference will be creating opportunities and design action plan on sustainable development model.

From the Conference Desk

Under 'the 2030 global agenda for sustainable development for transforming our world' gender equality and sensitization is one of the significant goals. In such global to local Indian context women empowerment is the discourse in the new normal development era. Since pre independence era, women in Maharashtra have participated in social and political reforms. The legacy carried to the next generations in the form of various women movements and organizations since establishment of the state of Maharashtra. The Maharashtra State Commission for Women was established in January 1993 with the aims to uplift the social status and respect; To make recommendations to the government by considering various issues of women; to give free legal advice to the needy women victims; to make reforms by inspecting women's organizations, prisons, reforming organizations.

The Commission conducts inquiries into cases like dowry, sexual harassment, etc. Yet it is a fact that women's issues are not over today. The Women's Economic Development Corporation was established in the state to develop women's capacity, increase their confidence, and increase their participation in education, economics and power issues. Today, we are always reading, listening and experiencing higher number of incidences of oppression against women. Although the situation is changing, it does not seem to be developing as it should. The world of women is changing and expanding. Lifestyle is changing. New challenges are up-coming in the new normal development era. Accepting all these changes over time, the woman is also becoming independent and self-sufficient. However, debates, discussions, workshops and conferences on women's empowerment are still being held. Such participation in the activities of women empowerment helps to contextualize women issues and formulating new development plans.
