Guest Lecture of Dr. Umesh Kolhe Sir from MIPLVP Institute of Social Work, Gandhinagar, Gujarat. On 23rd April 2022

Dr. Umesh kolhe from MIPLVP Institute of social work, Gandhinagar Gujrat. "MIPLVP institute is established under Kadi Sarva Vishwavidyalaya in 2019 and it offers a Masters in Social Work Programme (MSW). He came to visit our college on 23rd April 2022.

He started his speech saying Ladies and gentlemen,

Today, I stand before you to discuss a noble and impactful path that many individuals choose to embark upon - a career in social work. In a world where empathy and compassion often stand as beacons of hope, social work serves as the very essence of these values.

A career in social work is not merely a profession; it's a calling to make a genuine difference in the lives of those who are vulnerable, marginalized, and in need. It's about stepping forward to be the voice of the voiceless, the advocate for the marginalized, and the catalyst for positive change. Social workers are the unsung heroes who work tirelessly to address social issues, empower individuals and communities, and create a more equitable society.

As a social worker, you have the privilege of working in various settings - from schools and hospitals to non-profit organizations and government agencies. Your role could encompass helping families navigate through challenges, supporting individuals battling addiction, providing aid to refugees, or advocating for policies that promote social justice. Each day brings new challenges, but also the opportunity to inspire hope and transform lives.

It's important to acknowledge that a career in social work demands resilience and unwavering dedication. It requires the ability to connect deeply with people, to listen actively, and to find solutions that foster positive change. Sometimes, the progress might be gradual, but the impact you make is lasting.

In a world that can often seem divided and detached, social work bridges the gaps between people and communities. It's a career that challenges you to confront societal issues head-on, to break down barriers, and to be a force for positive transformation. By choosing this path, you're committing to a life of service, empathy, and advocacy.

So, for those who are considering a career in social work, I encourage you to embrace this noble journey with an open heart and a resilient spirit. Your efforts might not always make headlines, but the lives you touch, the smiles you bring, and the changes you facilitate are the true markers of your success.

Let us remember that in a world that yearns for compassion, understanding, and positive change, the role of a social worker is indispensable. Thank you.
